Calling all photographers!

Followers of wtbiglocal on Instagram will have noticed that, in our opinion #springishere! WTBL are looking for some new photographs of the local area to freshen up the website, and it would be great to be able to feature the work of local snappers. If you have been tempted outside by the recent glorious spring scenes, and you would be willing for us to use your picture, tag it on Instagram with wtbiglocal, or email it to us at news@wtbiglocal.org.uk

Community Centre Consultation

You may have read in The Mercury that WTBL has been involved in gaining the status of Community Asset for the Community Centre in Fairfield Drive. At a time when local halls are under threat due to funding cuts, we feel that this offers a little extra protection to the centre, as the community would have to be notified in advance of any plans to sell the building. WTBL have now appointed a consultancy firm, Mobilise, to research the community's views on the potential for the centre and consider its ability to become a sustainable local base in its own right. Amongst other information gathering, this will involve canvassing residents, both face to face and via an online survey. More details will be published on our website and social media once the fine details are agreed.

Where shall we Grow Wild?

WTBL have received a seed kit from the Grow Wild project and have been seeking suggestions of places in Wormley or Turnford that would benefit from a splash of floral colour. If you would like to be involved in the process of growing our seeds, please let us know; we need to get planting this month! The pack also includes a mushroom kit - and we would be pleased to hear from any local group who would like to learn more about fungi by taking on this part of the project.
